

ADR<sub>x</sub>

Alternative dispute resolution frequently costs far more than the controversy warrants. That makes us sick. Why should those who aren't litigating like the Fortune 500s suffer the lost time, emotional stress and financial pain that typical ADR often involves?

ValueSolve is a small group of highly experienced mediators and arbitrators with a prescription for changing the way ADR works. We make sure the parties know what separates them, and they're focused and committed before they meet to resolve their differences. That way, ill will can often be overcome in one afternoon. Our method is designed to fit the situation, and our fees are far less than the norm. Just what the juris doctor ordered.
